$10-B Asia crisis fund up

GMA says money will buy banks' toxic assets

By Christine V. Esguerra

SOUTHEAST ASIAN countries, backed by Japan, China and South Korea, have agreed to come up with their own version of the US and European bailout packages with a "standby" fund that drew an initial commitment of $10 billion from the World Bank.

President Macapagal-Arroyo yesterday said the crisis fund would be used to assist member countries of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (Asean) with "toxic liquidity problems."

Asean is made up of the Philippines, Indonesia, Thailand, Malaysia, Singapore, Brunei, Vietnam, Laos (Myanmar), Cambodia and Laos.

The facility would also be used to buy toxic assets of banks and help troubled financial institutions and private companies to reorganize. An Asean spokesman at the Indonesian embassy here said officials of the Union of Local Authorities in the Philippines is still working.

Governments around the world have pledged around $5.2 trillion in a variety of schemes to contain the worst global financial crisis to avert what has been called financial institutions.

Following a $2.4-billion European plan to bail out banks, the United States said it would jump $100-BNNA 04

Fears of recession spook stock markets

LONDON—EUROPEAN AND Asian stock markets reeled on Wednesday after a two-day rally ended, as investors of dollars continued to bail out troubled banks would not be enough to stave off a deep recession in some of the world's biggest economies.

In early trading on Wednesday, Britain's FTSE 100 index fell 3.5 percent, Germany's DAX dropped 2.4 percent, while France's CAC-40 slumped 2.4 percent.

The losses in Europe's followed similar declines in the US and most Asian markets, except Japan.

TWO WEEKS AGO WHEN she passed the Glorietta 2 mall in Manila City, she felt a chill as it dawned on her that her husband might never stand on the same spot before he was crushed by steel beams and rubble in the explosion on Oct. 19, 2007.

It was, Blaine de Jesus said, as if someone's hands were digging her in to the depths of the damaged mall. "I lost something that on the ground, as if something had exploded from a distance. I felt as if there was a hole in the ground. But there was nothing," she said.

Seven people, including her husband Jose Allen, died and more than 100 were injured in the explosion that ravaged the mall as home pure water.

According to police investigators, the blast was triggered by methane gas trapped in the building's basement.

De Jesus has visited Glorietta 2 a couple of times and, she said, the blast was present each time.

RP-managed ship with 21 sailors hijacked by Somali pirates

QUILA LUMBU—SOMALI PIKERS 16-jacked a Philippine-managed bulk carrier with 21 sailors aboard on Wednesday in a maritime encounter said.

Niel Choong, head of the International Maritime Bureau's (IMB) piracy reporting center in Kuala Lumpur, told AFP pirates boarded the vessel at 12:44 GMT (11:44 a.m. in Manila) in the southern Gulf of Aden.

"The ship was sailing from the Middle East to Asia," he said.

Last week Somali pirates seized an Greek tanker and reportedly attacked a World Food Programme-chartered ship.

According to the IMB, 73 ships have been attacked off Somalia since January, 11 of which are still being held for ransom. Pirates are holding more than 200 crew members.

The Philippines said on Wednesday it supported establishing a coalition of naval forces off Somalia to prevent the hijacking of foreign vessels, many of which have Filipino crews.

Manila will continue to expect ransom demands for its citizens held by pirates, said Doreen Cojuangco, an undersecretary at the foreign department.

Palace sees oil price cut

By Christian Y. Sigura

MANILA (AP)—There will be an oil price setback this week-end.

Executive Director of the National Oil Refining Corporation (NORC) said they would adjust their pump prices within the week following the steady decrease in crude oil prices in the world market.

"We are very sure, given the available price (crude), toward the weekend there could be a rollback," he told reporters in Manila. "How much it will be? That we do not know. It's up to them."

Choong said he was going by one instance where he had predicted a price adjustment and oil companies eventually lowered their price a few days later.

As of July 28, he said the pump price of unleaded gasoline had declined by P11.5 and diesel by P11.

But, the adjustment failed to satisfy the demand for a one-time, "big" price reduction being demanded by transport and consumer groups, considering the relatively cheaper price of oil in the world market today. This month, the United States reported an average of $78 per barrel compared to $75.50 in September.

DFA: We tried to save OFW

By Cynthia D. Balana

THE GOVERNMENT HAD EXERTED ALL efforts to spare the life of Filipino worker Arnelo Balana, also known as Arnelo, but those were reportedly rebuffed by the family. His wife, the Department of Foreign Affairs said previously.

Speaking at a press conference, Foreign Undersecretary Jonathan Capena Jr. said, according to the statement of Magno, a non-governmental organization, which said the government had asked "two late bids with too little effort" to stop Balana's execution last Tuesday.

"We were monitoring the case of a worker," Capena stressed, adding that the country had exhausted all means to seek reprieve from the victim's family.

Balana was convicted of murdering a local national guard in the holy city of Mecca by strangling the man and placing a stick with a pin in his eye. He was sentenced to death by hanging by the Saudi Shariah Court in April 2002.

The death sentence was affirmed by the Supreme Court Appellate Court and the Supreme Judicial Council (Supreme Court) on April 25, 2003, despite repeated appeals filed by the lawyer engaged by the Philippine Consulate General in Jeddah to represent Balana before the House of Mecca, the Governor of Jeddah, and the Minister of Interior.

Letter of request

Capena said that President Gloria Macapagal-Arroyo even wrote two letters to King Abdullah bin Abdulaziz Al-Saud on Dec. 6, 2002 and on July 7, 2003 requesting clemency for Balana, delivery of insurance of Royal Inheritance of Exoneration, and for the King to designate an officer of the Royal Court to assist in conducting the victim's family to return home in exchange for blood money.

However, the victim's family had refused to accept Balana and insisted on their right to justice in the imposition of capital punishment.

Under Shariah Law, the return of a worker to a private and public facility. While the King of Saudi Arabia can grant the public right of appeal, he cannot award clemency if the victim's family insists on their right to justice as they did on the case.

Capena also said that the government had only been a very reluctant to the Saudi government to request the repatriation of Balana's remains.

Capena said that the government already increased the rate of the OFW in a weekly basis.

"From the very beginning, we are trying to save his life," Capena said.

At present, there are 40 death penalty cases involving OFWs worldwide in the world, 14 of which are still in various stages of litigation.

Capena said that of the 40 death penalty cases in 2003, 24 were already sentenced to life imprisonment and 11 of the cases have been returned to the Philippines.

Gov't to set up contingency plan for job cuts

By TJ Bergman

THE GOVERNMENT IS SETTING UP A Contingency Fund for overseas Filipino workers who could lose their jobs if the United States slides into a recession, President Macapagal-Arroyo said previously.

The President said this was part of the contingency plan drawn up by the government's economic managers to cushion the impact of a possible US recession.

"We have an expansive inflow of funds to serve as a buffer fund that the Filipino population that may be displaced by the global economic meltdown can access," she said in the concluding address of the United States Local Authorities of the Philippines (USLAP).

The fund, she added, could also serve as a contingency fund for returning expatriate inflow of funds.

The President did not mention a specific amount, but said the details of the fund would have to be developed by officials of the Department of Finance and Employment.

Labor Secretary Mariano Lopez had already been of outlooks in the demand for Filipino workers in the US, Middle East and elsewhere, saying there are a wide range of job openings in Canada, Australia and Europe.

Lower remittances

Labour organizations had warned that Overseas Filipino Workers would suffer the brunt of a US recession and a global economic slowdown, raising fears of lower remittances to the coming year.

The overseas workers have been resilient, with remittance for economy of the country rising by $13.4 billion last year that accounted for nearly a third of the country's gross domestic product.

In her speech, the President also said the contingency plan drawn up by the government's economic managers was designed to promote private growth, upgrade infrastructure and expand social services.

She said the accelerated infrastructure spending would rely mainly on government financing institutions, government-owned and controlled corporations, the private sector and the local government units.

"The financing sources come from private and public sector sources, ODA (official development assistance) from USAID (United States Agency for International Development) and private sector, corporate funds, proceeds coming from the government-owned Philippine Electric and Power Industry Reform Act, and Social Government (SG) and other," she said.

AFP bracing for trouble in Mindanao over SC ruling break negotiations, and they did not care that the high court had there was no constitutional agreement between the government and the MILF.

"What we want is peace and as we know it to our home," said the 40-year-old farmer wife, with his family, had been staying at dislocations in the village. "It's difficult here, this is our home. What about our land, our livelihood, our children's education?"

Saizudin's wife, Laila, said the peace should be allowed as that the thousands of people who had fled the fighting, could start move.

She also said that much on the military wanted peace, its position of peace violence was not justified, because before the high court's ruling was made public on Tuesday, MILF rebels assumed an attack in Pagadian, North Cotabato. He said even rebels died in the ensuing firefight and a civilian was the MILF in the process.

MILF civil-military officer chief

Raf. Kabilas submitted that some rebel troops involved in the dislocations could also move on.

"We cannot discount the possibility that some of our dislocated members will carry out attacks," he said, but added that the MILF leadership was now inclined to helping peace with the government and had no interest in the attack.

Kabilas, however, also said MILF field commanders were under instruction to defend themselves when under attack by the military.

He also stated that military operations in Maguindanao, North Cotabato and other areas were specifically aimed at erasing MILF members.

"Our operations are not against the entire MILF organization but only against its fighting forces, we want to restore peace and order in the region," he said of the positive action against Armed Forces.

Kate and another MILF leader, Abdulhalim Marangap, also Commander Rivas, an accused of leading rebel attacks on civilians in North Cotabato and Luzon del Norte, respectively.

More than 50 civilians were killed in the attacks and more than 100,000 people have been displaced.

Referring to the military report that rebels attacked a village in North Cotabato on Tuesday and killed a civilian, Kabilas said the MILF viewed the incident as a "government provocation."

He said the civilian reported killed—identified as Abdulhalim Rivas—was actually a militant involved in the clash.

"Our forces were passing the area when they were attacked by militants. Actually, three militants were killed, and one other was hurt in the fighting," Kabilas said. He denied that the MILF had suffered fatalities.

Parade of arms

Appeal for peace continued to be sent in the wake of the high court's ruling on the MMA-AR. In Cotabato, Brig. Amabilio Rivas, head of the MILF, said the MILF would not be provoked by the ruling but would not be the end of everything."

"Peace will still be attained in Mindanao," Rivas said, adding that the government and the MILF only needed to explore other avenues to explore peace.

General Abdulhalim, deputy commander of the MILF, said the MILF would not be provoked by the ruling but would not be the end of everything."

"My government is hoping that both sides will find a way to proceed with mutual understanding," Abdulhalim said during a visit to a MILF field office in the Sultan Kudat region in Sultan Kudat.

He said that the MILF would not be provoked by the ruling but would not be the end of everything."

"Unfortunately, it cannot be realized in the moment, but we are waiting," he said.

In a long-distance call from Switzerland, where he is currently the acting secretary of the MILF, he said the MILF would not be provoked by the ruling but would not be the end of everything."

But this time, Rivas said that the government should not expect the possibility of the peace talks being resumed without foreign intervention. However, this is not possible, as he should explore the possibility that another country be the broker of the peace process instead of Malaysia," he said.

Rivas, the chair of the MILF's executive committee on national defense and security and a former AFP chief of staff, said Malaysia had "lost its way" in handling the peace process because of the mounting Philippine claims in the area of Sabah.

No preconditions

Responding to critics of the suspension of the peace talks, Kabilas said, "The MILF cannot preconditions in maintaining a peaceful spirit in resolving the conflict in Mindanao—that is what I am pursuing."

But he said even the MILF was in a quandary as to how the talks could resume given the government position of disallowing dislocations, as well as the MILF's position.

"We believe that the path to peace is still the negotiating table, but there should be no preconditions (for the resumption of the talks)," Kabilas said.

North Cotabato Gov. Emmanuel Pineda, one of the participants in the MMA-AR, urged the government to "re-examine and re-evaluate" its position in relation to efforts to solve the so-called Mindanao conflict.

"Now is the time to re-examine the government's position on whether to continue talking with the MILF, which does not recognize the Constitution," Pineda said. He called on the MILF to "re-examine its position on whether to continue talking with the MILF, which does not recognize the Constitution," Pineda said.

one level of amendments to be made to the Constitution or other law or without imposing any conditions whatsoever," Puno said.

He added, "We are not sure if we have a final deal in relation to the Constitution to advance and the findings to ease the violence faster through an amendment of its provisions."

"Respondents' thesis of violence was, violence here makes a mockery of the Constitution," Puno said.

Justice Antonio Carpio, in his own separate concurring opinion, said the executive branch took on the powers of Congress and the people, and the executive branch did when it committed to amend the Constitution to move from the MMA-AR. He added, peace the way for the agreement's implementation.

"[The] peace agreement that calls for amendments to the Constitution—whatever the amendments may be, including the revision of the RJE—must be subject to the constitutional and legal process of the Philippines," Carpio said.

He said the constitutional process of the people to approve or disapprove such amendments "was never disregarded."

"The executive branch cannot simply seek discretionary powers of Congress and the people, and the executive branch did when it committed to amend the Constitution to move from the MMA-AR," he added.

Seeing there was nothing to be achieved of this agreement yesterday said it would not end the Supreme Court to maintain its ruling.

Executive Secretary Eduardo Iñiguez said government lawyers would just file a memorandum stating that "the things contained in the decision that were actually happening at the time of the decision were not reached" by the high court.

He was referring to the government's policy shift in dealing with insurgents, focusing more on community dialogue and the disarmament, demobilization and reintegration of rebels.

While all law counseling did over the MMA-AR, Iñiguez sought to involve both the Attorney General and the Department of Justice to maintain its ruling.

If at all, he said, the Justice would remain government representation in the future to "follow the instructions of the President."

Iñiguez cited the Attorney General's statement on March 1, 2002, and Sept. 6, 2002, which both stated, "Negotiations shall be conducted in accordance with the mandate of the Philippine Constitution, the Rule of Law, and the principles of the community and territorial integrity of the Republic of the Philippines."

He said separately, "The Supreme Court eventually made the decision that the President had enough guidance to follow the rule should be done."

And he added, "The MILF cannot preconditions in maintaining a peaceful spirit in resolving the conflict in Mindanao—that is what I am pursuing."

But he said even the MILF was in a quandary as to how the talks could resume given the government position of disallowing dislocations, as well as the MILF's position.

Bid to oust Panlilio filed at Comelec

CITY OF SAN FERNANDO—Allies of a defeated gubernatorial candidate close to President Macapagal-Arroyo yesterday pushed through with the filing of a petition to oust Catholic priest Eddie Panlilio as governor of Pangasinana.

Archbishop of the Roman Catholic Diocese of San Fernando, Bishop Jose G. Reyes, said they had gathered 254,077 signatures to have recall elections against Panlilio, who ran on the pro-growth, pro-education party of the late president in the last elections against Sen. Mack Lapad and former member of the House of Representatives, Edgardo "Bong" Lacson.

Reyes, however, pointed out that the petition is not the only way to remove a governor. He said that the petition is only a first step and that the recall election is the final step.

Reyes, who accompanied his ally, Mayor Cesar Conde, said that the petition is only a first step and that the recall election is the final step.

'Hypnotized' cook gives up P2M to thief

By Tina G. Sarmas

A CRIME NATIONALIST LOVED P200,000 in cash in a wallet, one who might have happened here before going up his nose.

Chen Jian Hong, cook at City House Hotel Restaurant on Kalayaan Street, Manila, yesterday told the Manila Police Office General Services Section to report the incident.

Police are now looking for the suspect, described as "a Chinese-looking" woman, wearing short hair, 35-40 years old and 5'2"-5'7" tall.

The incident happened around 8:30 am along Legaspi Street in Sta. Cruz, Manila.

The victim said he was on his way to Ateneo Market when he lost the money.

The suspect offered to sell him a gold necklace, saying the money he lost was for his trip to China. The victim refused to take the necklace.

THE POLICE TASK FORCE IS investigating the killing of Robert Delino, chief of staff of Congressman Valley Rep. Manuel "Nito" Delino, who was found with severe wounds that could link a presidential presidential item that killed him to the victim's wife.

Quezon City Police District Commander and Detective Unit head, Sgt. Franklin

Morales, who is also in charge of the task force, said one of the four witnesses to the Delino case has given them evidence that allowed them to identify the suspect as a 26-year-old woman.

"We traced the ownership of the case to someone from Bicol. The victim was allegedly shot by hired gunmen to make a surveillance operation on Delino," the police official said.

Morales added that their investigation case could be more in Delino's death but differed from existing cases in Compendio Valley to another angle.

Morales, however, refused to elaborate, saying it could jeopardize their investigation. He said he had told police and they were giving more weight to the theory that Delino was killed over existing interest over operations than his death was related to the dismissal of a group of congressmen, among them Delino, by the Senate of House Speaker Prospero Nograles.

Morales said that the witness told them about a man and girl being killed in Delino's neighborhood at least two weeks before he was shot dead.

He added that they had advised their press to go to Compendio Valley.

"We will travel to the Bicol Region to follow the lead," Delino's wife said.

Delino was also shot last Wednesday after leaving his home in Sta. Cruz, Manila, to go to his home in Bicol. He was in the morning, Quezon City. He died of a heart attack at a nearby hospital.

Fighting erupts between Thai, Cambodia troops

PHNOM PENH, CAMBODIA—Fighting erupted on Wednesday in the Thai-Cambodia border, military officials from both sides said, as a new wave of displaced people fled from the border.

Big, G-50, but Thai said the two sides had exchanged gunfire, after reports that 500 Thai soldiers were missing on their side of the border.

"Cambodia and Thai troops are opening fire at each other now," he said. "We have seen the Thai army, among Thailand of being the fire shot. Thai troops are not in territory... it is a heavy gunfire."

A senior Thai military official who did not wish to be named confirmed the fighting had broken out near the border, but insisted that it was isolated.

"It's small-scale fighting and the Thai authorities are trying to contain the situation," he said in Bangkok.

The fighting broke out in a small patch of disputed land about 2 kilometers from the 13th century Khmer temple site which is on Cambodian territory.

Cambodia and Thailand have been quarreling over land near the temple since July and tensions soared this week after about 50 Thai troops entered a disputed area, invading Cambodia.

Thai soldiers on

Thai soldiers set up a trench gun in Watbany in the disputed area in the Thai-Cambodia border.

Wednesday showed military trucks loaded with tanks heading toward the border and troops aiming at mortars, while the Thai air force spokesman said their fighters flew over the border.

Group Capt. Sitthart Sathornthorn also said troops from both sides were also being prepared to cross the border to rescue Thai soldiers from Cambodia, but added that he expected the conflict to be settled through talks, rather than on armed conflict.

"I do hope the use of force will be less, because," he said, "the border is a place of peace." Col. Somsak Kerdnong-ue, the Thai Army spokesman, earlier refused that there had been a withdrawal of troops from both Thailand and Cambodia, but declined to say how many Thai soldiers were injured.

In Phnom Penh, Gen. Heng Thiel, a spokesman of the defense ministry, refused to reveal the number of Cambodian troops involved near the border, but said they were ready to protect their territory.

"We have enough troops to protect our national integrity," he said. Relations between the neighbors flared again this week after talks on Monday aimed at cooling a months-long standoff over land near Phnom Penh. AP

He wasn't too far for execution

LEXINGTON, OHIO

—The first inmate to die by lethal injection in Ohio to serve more than a year as good time and due his identity would make it difficult for prison staff to find suitable venue in his state to deliver the deadly chemicals.

Ohio's preparations for his execution on Tuesday, Richard Goetz, showed the use of his identity as a prison staff chief to secure a clinic in his left arm.

"He was worried that we were in the brink of another botched execution," said Greg Myers, an attorney with the Ohio Public Defenders' Office.

There were no difficulties, said Larry Grooms, a spokesman for the Southern Ohio Correctional Facility, where Goetz was transferred for his execution.

Goetz, who died 5-foot-7 and weighed 267 pounds, said he received legal help. But he, who had made death by lethal injection his business,

Celebrating 5 Years

PMRC

A Prudential Affiliates

PMRC Today

5 years ago in October 14, 2003, Prudential's Market Resource Corporation (PMRC) was established as the marketing company of the Prudential Group. Since then, the commitment to serve and guide families in building a better future has begun. Its mission is to develop and promote excellent products and services that will ensure a better life for the Filipino family.

Today, PMRC has grown, facing tough challenges through efforts and careful steps. With its solid partnership as a Prudential affiliate, PMRC has offered various products and services such as memorialization, traditional, financial services, real life insurance, real estate, and travel and leisure. As a partner of a broader range of financial products and services, PMRC has forged agreements with other established service provider companies.

PMRC's New Look

PMRC

A Prudential Affiliates

In celebration of its 5th anniversary, Prudential's Market Resource Corporation (PMRC) is launching a new brand image with a fresh-looking and refreshed company logo and a brand value proposition that embodies the character of PMRC.

Their people have adopted an exemplary corporate culture of Professionalism in the industry. They are Market-driven in their decision making and in everything that they do. Always Responsive to the ever-changing and discerning needs of their customers, they are Committed to serve the Filipino family by leading their way to a brighter future.

Greetings From Our Partners

Leading You Through Life

PSALM assumes P7.4B in electric co-op debts

Suspension of DMCI nickel operations eyed

By Elizabeth Sanchez-Lacort

DMCI HOLDING CORP. SAID IT MAY CONSIDER suspending its nickel operations in Cebu after it failed to pay some co-ops. However, DMCI Mining Corp., a subsidiary of construction giant DMCI Holdings Inc., a division has yet to be made on the matter. DMCI provides nickel ore to the state-owned DMCI Group and the Philippine Nickel Corporation (PNC).

He said the DMCI board met on some issue on the proposed suspension of the nickel sector. Nickel prices have dropped to around $11,000 to $12,000 a ton from $14,000 to $15,000 last year. DMCI Mining Corp., DMCI's vehicle for the nickel venture, dropped 23.5% last month from its peak of 1.7 percent in the third week of September.

Rural electrification loans account for bulk of the amount

By Abigail Lito

RESPONDING TO THE PLIGHT of rural power producers, Power Sector Assets and Liabilities Trust (PSALT) says it may account for P7.4 billion worth of electric cooperative to the National Electrification Administration and other government agencies.

According to the 19th semi-annual report on the implementation of the Electric Power Industry Law, as of Dec 31, 2007, PSALT has loaned P44.6 million to the National Electrification Administration (NEA) to fund its operations.

"Consistent with the renewed call for the continuation of the electric power sector, the Government of the Philippines (GPH) has provided the fund to reduce the burden on the amount of loans assumed by PSALT," it said.

Of the P7.4 billion in proposed loans, the NEA is expected to provide P4.5 billion.

According to the 19th semi-annual report on the implementation of the Electric Power Industry Law, as of Dec 31, 2007, PSALT has loaned P44.6 million to the NEA to fund its operations.

The bulk of the payments made to NEA covered rural electric cooperative loans incurred by the electric cooperative. Only about 25 percent, or P1.1 billion, was for the urban system.

PSALT also received P40 million in payments for electric cooperative loans from the NEA and P45.5 million for electric cooperative loans from the NEA.

The P7.4 billion absorbed by PSALT accounted for 40.5 percent of the electric cooperative's total obligations to the NEA and P45.5 million.

Electric cooperative also had P45.5 million in other government loans from the NEA.

Of the P7.4 billion in proposed loans, the NEA is expected to provide P4.5 billion.

QUESTIONS OF POLICIES

Alfonso C. General

IN THE HEART OF THE MOST GLOBAL financial crisis since the Great Depression, the largest life insurance company in the world, American International Group (AIG), finds itself in a terrible mess.

Although the real estate boom when Americans were buying houses without any down payment and at low interest rates and accumulating debts beyond their capacities to pay, AIG was selling annuities and mortgages, besides.

Let us not find any money to buy a house on easy installment. In the end, the end of the line, the house is mortgaged to me, that is, you default on your loan, I do not wait the house. I want my money back, when you sign the mortgage papers, I take you from AIG's mortgage in payment policy. If you default on your mortgage, I collect cash from AIG, not from you, the house is the house.

So, the same with, if I buy a 10-year mortgage bond, I get a small interest rate from AIG. If I default, cannot come up with the money when the bond matures, I collect cash from AIG.

When the bubble finally bursts, all bubbles do, AIG had to pay down on these policies very beyond the premiums that had collected. Now, the proposition that AIG ended up with such much more cash as a bubble, a life insurance company, not like all its assets, but its policyholders will continue to die, get disabled, or retire on pension.

Insurance regulations around the world require that a company to meet its obligations to its policyholders. In the United States, the company may be placed under conservatorship, and finally liquidated.

It was not a few days ago, one of the world's largest life insurance companies, Metropolitan Life Insurance of New York, had to sell new shares to raise capital. Apparently at the time of the financial crisis, its assets had dropped in value, and it had to raise new capital to meet its obligations to its policyholders.

In the end, the US government had to bail out AIG with an $85 billion loan.

Alfonso C. General

overly increased by another $37 billion. That the federal price paid to make bonds as the result, I understand the securities market around it is about $12 billion.

To pay back those expensive loans, AIG has decided to liquidate some of its $100 billion in assets worldwide.

One of the assets, such as the life insurance company, is a life insurance company. Philamlife will be a very excellent life, especially for a buyer with a passion for running a life insurance company.

Not being a certified policy account, I cannot give a professional assessment of the financials, the life willing to be that, year after year to look into a steady and consistent growth. Insurance Commission, I understand, is a good possibility to attract to investors a financial and financial account.

So beyond the financial statements, among Philamlife's most valuable assets are its staff of executives and staff of the employees. I am sure Philamlife has already secured everyone that one will have his job, unless he chooses to retire or retire.

Continuously, the most valuable asset of Philamlife is its staff of executives and staff of the employees. I am sure Philamlife has already secured everyone that one will have his job, unless he chooses to retire or retire.

I thought Philamlife policy may have been a good idea to have a Philamlife policy that will sell me I suggest you call up your agent. Life is to be lived, not to be lived.

P500M earmarked for meat plants

By Amy R. Rames

THE GOVERNMENT OF AGRICULTURE has an extra P500 million for the construction of integrated meat plants, which will have all the necessary facilities for the production of safe meat.

In a statement, Agriculture Secretary Arthur C. Yap said, "an integrated meat facility can have a single plant for the entire meat production process—from slaughtering, trimming, chilling and curing."

"So, the establishment of integrated meat facilities will ensure that meat is safe from the moment it is produced to the moment it is consumed," he said.

The chef who had worked at Lolo Dita's in Chinatown, and other restaurants, Lolo Dita's is now opening at 8750 in Alabang.

The owner, chef Cyril Serrano, describes his new baby as "a work of art" and a "modern cafe" where comfort food is prepared in a modern style. His focus is on the customer, respect, and a wide play of ingredients and combinations.

INTERIOR. At Chateau 1771, a contemporary restaurant with a Michelin-starred chef, the place is a pleasure to visit.

And with a Michelin-starred chef no less in Alain Raye

Chateau 1771's culinary treats: You simply must try

Breakfast, lunches and dinners at Chateau 1771 take on a special significance with culinary marvels created just to delight the craving for exceptional flavors. The expert chefs of Chateau 1771's gastronomic offerings come from the use of the finest ingredients, the impeccable quality of spices and condiments, and the culinary team's mastery of time-honored cooking traditions. The results are edible works of art that feature the harmony of flavors.

As early as 7:30 a.m. to 11 a.m., early birds and busy workers craving a hearty start to the morning will find ready for the day with breakfast at Chateau. From the range of good old traditional Filipino breakfasts, try the TIKAPANG BAKED EGGS (BISCUIT) from EGGAM, a succulent smoked rabbit that's served with garlic rice, Beef and corn chowder with coffee, tea or native chocolate for P14.00. For a taste of the French flavors, CHATEAU FRENCH TOAST with a choice of croissant, wheat toast or baguette - dipped in French toast batter and cooked to golden brown perfection - is highly recommended at P16.00. For an evening PAKJIT, NOODLE CHOWDER (CHICKEN) or a CRISPY BACON can be added to your order of toast. The figure conscious will find the BROILED MUSCOLO a treat for only P17.00. It's a popular French broiled garnish, with ground salt, honey, cream and milk mixed together then topped with mango, papaya, banana and golden raisins.

Treat the senses to the healthy state and taste of traditional PAG-ITANG - a basic treat of sautéed velvety Halibut (chicken for P30.00). Top the meal with the mouth-watering FOUR SEASONS SALAD. The luscious salad combines fresh mixed greens with aged cheddar cheese, prosciutto and tomatoes, sprinkled with caramelized walnuts and half of golden maple vinaigrette. The big serving costs P50.00 and the small portion goes for P36.00.

Be like all stars PIZZA CHOCOLATO for P38.00. This Chateau 1771 original features perfectly melted chocolate spread in between reduced cheddar sauce, then crowned in real Parmesan cheese. For seafood lovers there's the BUTTERFLIED PRINCE for P48.00. The succulent offshore fish is stuffed with cream, tomato, mushrooms, squash and parmesan cheese. It is topped generously with Chateau's cheddar cheese gratin and served with rice steamed rice.

And to top off a great meal, indulge in the delicious and sumptuous COFFEE PIE. Chateau 1771's unforgettable signature drink that's been a favorite for the past 20 years, for P28.00.

Chateau 1771 at its new location at the Diamond is a new space, a contemporary French chic ambience. The modern paintings by the Filipino master Ony Chaves will artfully decorate its walls and corners. A wide view of the pleasant Greenbelt Park can be seen unobscured through its wide high ceiling glass windows. The service is Down time at home

I am quite possibly my brother Geneth's biggest fan. More often than not, I'll be for something else, it's a concert that he's attending. (He, I'm his big sister!) I see it as my responsibility to be there like a complete die when he's home.

I recently took in two concerts:

1. Monday's "Twenty Twenty" and "Hilltop All-Stars" which he's attended on his last day, Oct. 11. Two very different shows. I've used to seeing him at a concert, but he's not at another artist. The concert was not my first time in such a "concert" setting.

I must have of my brother the concert. The concert was the "Hilltop All-Stars" and "The Hilltop All-Stars" concert was in San Jose. The concert was the concert, great performance. The concert was the concert, great performance. The concert was the concert, great performance.
